SPY SUSPECTED OF GIVING RUSS ARMY SECRETS

Man Accused of Stealing Data of "Great Military Significance" Faces Probe.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—A member of the house un-American activities committee said today it has a report that detailed information on the Norden bomb sight leaked out to Russian representatives as early as 1938.

This member, who would not permit the use of his name, said the report was obtained orally by a committee investigator and the committee is now pursuing it.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — A man suspected of stealing and handing over to Russia pre-war Army secrets of "great military significance" may be hailed before the congressional spy hearings later this week.

The secrets are supposed to have come out of the Aberdeen proving ground on Chesapeake bay north of Baltimore. There was no immediate hint as to their nature beyond the claim that they included "formulae, descriptions and leading information involving our hitting and our defensive power."

As the house un-American activities committee pushed its spy hunt into this new field:

▶Acting chairman Mundt (R-SD) said "the feeling on the committe is unanimous that there is a Soviet espionage ring operating in Washington now." He said the government has done "not one, single, effective thing to prevent it."

▶The committee tried to prod a New York grand jury into coming out with indictments "of all guilty parties" connected with a Soviet espionage ring that was, in committee words, "aided and abetted by officials and employes of our own government."

▶Arrangements were made for serial publication of all but four of the secret papers obtained from Whittaker Chambers, former Communist courier. The four are still regarded by the state department as likely to injure national security, but the others will be released in batches starting tomorrow.

▶The committee said that starting tomorrow it expects to "exercise the full authority of its subpoena powers and the other authorities granted it by congress."

That appeared to be notice to the justice department that the committee is waiting only 24 hours more for a chance to summon Chambers and other key witnesses for questioning. They have been tied up in the New York grand jury's espionage inquiry.

New Grand Jury Coming

The present grand jury goes out of business today. But the justice department has announced a new one will take over the spy investigation tomorrow. Said Mundt:

"If they make no findings, we're certainly not going to sit around for another 18 months while they debate this thing further."

Whether the committee will get around to the Aberdeen phase this week also appeared to hinge in part on whether it could get any of the witnesses who have been in New York.

The new twist in its inquiry was disclosed by the committee late yesterday in a formal statement summarizing its investigation to date and urging punishment of the guilty.

Girl Slain on Guam Was Fiancee Of Hardin County Man

Miss Ruth Farnsworth, 27-year-old San Francisco woman who died yesterday on Guam of shock and a beating thought to have been administered by several men, was to have become the bride of a Hardin county man, Marine Sgt. Sterling McGinnis of Roundhead, next March, it was disclosed today by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl McGinnis of Roundhead today.

"We are shocked beyond belief," Mrs. McGinnis said.

No word has been received from Sgt. McGinnis since the tragedy the family stated today. Mrs. McGinnis said she had never met Miss Farnsworth but had talked to her on the telephone from San Francisco on her last visit to the states. The couple had been engaged since August of this year and their wedding was to have taken place in San Francisco.

Sgt. McGinnis, who was reared and attended High school at Roundhead, has been stationed on Guam since October 1946. He met Miss Farnsworth that month and they had been going together steady since, his mother said.

Miss Farnsworth, said to be the most beautiful girl on Guam, died in a hospital, 48 hours after she had been brutally assaulted and beaten by what authorities believe to be several attackers.

Death Weapon Found

Navy investigators said a blood-marked club and been found near the jungle spot where she was raped and fatally wounded, an Associated Press dispatch from Guam reported today.

Guam authorities expressed belief the weapon was used to subdue the 27-year-old San Francisco girl as she struggled with several assailants Saturday night, the dispatch states. She was found unconscious and partly clothed and died Tuesday in a hospital.

Death apparently resulted from a brain injury inflicted by blows on the head.

As a search for her attackers was intensified, Guam authorities reported to Pacific fleet headquarters, "there is a great deal of feeling both among civilian and military personnel."

Shreds from Miss Farnsworth's red sweater were found in jungle brush, but her sweater has not been found. Earlier investigators picked up a pair of paratroop boots near the place where the unconscious girl was found.

The Navy island administration said more than one other person was there when Miss Farnsworth was attacked. The evidence included marks where persons had sat down in the brush.

Civil Service Employe

Miss Farnsworth, a naval civil service employe, worked nights at a curio shop from which she was abducted and taken into the jungle 200 yards away.

This report of the latest clues in the hunt for the slayers was reported by Lt. Cmdr. Daniel Elmore of Seattle, Navy public information officer for Pacific headquarters, at Pearl Harbor.

Elmore said the clothing found included Miss Farnsworth's blue flowered print dress, torn and bloody; her slip, also torn, and shreds from the red sweater.

500 Girls on Island

There are approximately 500 civilian girl workers on the island, Elmore said. It was thought possible that many might resign because of the brutal attack on Miss Farnsworth, but no resignations have been received, he said.

The latest Guam census lists the island population at 59,811, of which 27,000 are American servicemen.

Navy sources reported recently that there are believed to be about 30 Japanese soldiers still at large on the island, some of them believed armed.

Elmore added that word had been passed informally on Guam that it was inadvisable for single girls to wander about alone at night although no specific precautions had been taken.

Miss Farnsworth was believed to have been dragged from a jade shop where she worked part time to finance a trousseau for her coming marriage to Sgt. McGinnis.

ANCIENT CITY IN COMMUNIST "NUTCRACKER"

President Chiang Said To Be Studying Proposal That He Surrender Control.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Undersecretary of State Lovett indicated today that Madame Chiang Kai-shek has been unsuccessful here in her solicitation of obtaining stronger American support for the Chinese national government.

• • •

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, Dec. 15—There no longer is any doubt in Peiping that peace talks are in progress as the Chinese Communists slowly surround this ancient city.

Virtually everyone is convinced that talks between the Reds and Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, Nationalist commander, actually are going on at this moment.

(In Nanking, reliable sources said President Chiang Kai-shek is studying recommendations by his top advisors that he surrender control of the government—probably to open the way for peace talk with the Communists. There was no indication that he would do so, despite much pressure.)

City in "Nutcracker"

The Reds have Peiping in an iron nutcracker. Any chance Fu might have had to escape a week or two ago he has lost now.

One strong force of Communists is moving toward the paralyzed Peiping-Tientsin railroad from the east through Pasti, 40 miles north of Tientsin.

Another Red force, also from the east, has by-passed Peiping and is striking southward. It apparently intends to swing eastward to form a junction, which probably will be effected near Langfang, on the railroad 30 miles southeast of Peiping.

Meanwhile, smaller Red forces are striking at different points nearer Peiping—particularly on the north and northwestern outskirts. Several villages near the famed summer palace were under attack during the night. Sporadic gunfire again was audible inside the city.

Marines Expected Thursday

(Meanwhile, U. S. Consul General John Cabot announced in Shanghai that the first Marines ordered to that city since 1941 would arrive Thursday aboard the Navy transport Bayfield.

(The 685 Leathernecks, en route from Tsingtao in north China, are being sent to Shanghai to protect American citizens, if necessary. Cabot said the Marines would remain afloat at a Shanghai dock except for routine shore duty and liberty parties.

(The last Marines stationed in Shanghai, the old Fourth regiment, left in autumn of 1941 and later fought on Luzon.)

The report was not confirmed officially. A government spokesman, Gen. Weng-Yi, denied that Communist troops had entered Peiping, he also denied that Gen. Fu has been captured.

TO OPEN NEW TRUCK STATION

John Peoples Builds New Terminal at Eastern Limits of City.

One of the most modern truck service station and freight line terminals in the midwest is nearing completion here and will be open soon.

The new super-service truck terminal located on the south side of route 30-S, just east of the Marion city limits, is being built by J. W. Peoples Truck Service, Marion's oldest trucking firm.

Cost of the project is estimated at $25,000 to $30,000. It will be open for business sometime during the Christmas holidays, John W. Peoples, founder and owner of the trucking firm, said today.

The new terminal and service building is of one-story Quonset type all steel construction on a concrete base. The building has a 40-foot wide front facing route 30 south and is 120 feet deep. It is located on a lot of 150 feet frontage on route 30-S with a depth of 250 feet.

Base for Marion Line

The new terminal will serve as a base of operations and service for People's Truck Service own fleet and those of Aztec Truck Line units traveling to and from Canton and Chicago through Marion.

In front of the building will be a bank of gasoline and diesel fuel pumps. The terminal offices and a new truckers' restaurant offering 24-hour service will be housed in the front of the new building. To the rear of this will be located complete Sohio lubrication and service and repair facilities for all types of trucks, with a complete line of truck accessories available. To the rear of this will be located the freight terminal with inside loading and unloading ramp space for five large van type trucks at one time. Provisions and equipment are on hand to receive and send out truck shipments of freight to and from Marion regardless of size.

Heated, Air Conditioned

The new building is completely insulated with the same material used to build the buildings for Admiral Byrd at Little America. The entire building will be heated in the winter and air conditioned in the summer.

Entry to the terminal will be made through giant overhead type doors 13½ feet high and 14 feet wide, large enough to accommodate the largest trucks on the road.

Mr. Peoples has operated truck service in Marion since 1913 and at present operates seven large tractor trucks pulling a fleet of general freight and steel hauling trailers.

A parking lot is located on the premises and will be used not only by People's own fleet but will be available for stop overs for all trucks patronizing the establishment, Mr. Peoples said.

Cleveland FBI officers are holding two Ohio youths who have admitted taking part in the Dunkirk bank robbery, the Associated Press reported today.

They are Amaro Vasquez Valdez, 20, of Urbana, and Juan Moreno, 18, of Westerville. Both admitted robbing the Kenton Savings bank's Dunkirk branch of $1,114 Dec. 8, FBI agents said.

Amaro Valdez who arrested at Springfield Monday night and admitted serving as lookout during the Dunkirk holdup, the FBI reported. Juan Moreno who was picked up in Louisville, Ky. yesterday admitted driving the getaway car according to the FBI.

The third man who will stand trial for the robbery, Lucio Valdez, 17, of Findlay, now being held under $25,000 bond for return to Ohio after being arraigned on bank robbery charges before Lee Miles, U.S. commissioner at Little Rock, Ark. DAUGHERTY, TEAPOT DOME FIGURE, DIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Dec. 15—Mal S. Daugherty, the Washington Court House banker who figured in the teapot dome scandal, died last night. He was 86.

The aged banker and one-time Fayette county Republican party leader had been seriously ill for several weeks. He suffered a paralytic stroke about eight weeks ago. He had been a patient at a rest home near this southeastern Ohio town.

He was the brother of Harry M. Daugherty, U. S. attorney general in the administration of President Warren G. Harding.

Daugherty was subpoenaed to appear before the senate investigating committee in the teapot dome scandal, but flatly refused to make the trip to Washington.

The senate held Daugherty in contempt of congress and sent its sergeant at arms to Washington Court House to arrest Daugherty. He fled to Cincinnati, where he obtained a court order prohibiting the senate from making good its subpoena.

PROSPECT WOMAN RELEASED BY POLICE

Freed of Charge in Death of Child in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Dorothy Green, 28, of Prospect, was released from custody by Los Angeles county sheriff today according to a news service report. She had been held in a prison ward of Los Angeles General Hospital for the past six days under suspicion of murdering her prematurely born baby in a downtown Los Angeles hotel bathroom Friday Dec. 10. Mrs. Green still remains in General hospital.

Mrs. Green was ordered released from custody when an autopsy showed the premature infant had been stillborn, a Los Angeles county sheriff's office spokesman said. Mrs. Green had been staying at a Los Angeles hotel since a week ago yesterday. She and her husband Carl, 38, a C. & O. railroad employe, were on vacation at the time of her arrest.

A Los Angeles Times report of the case quoted Mrs. Green as saying, "I've been trying to think what happened. I don't know . . . I don't know.", when questioned by police investigators in connection with the infant's death.

Carl Green was held for a while when police were not satisfied as to where he was at the time of the baby's death. He was later released, the Los Angeles Times reported.

Mrs. Green originally denied giving birth to the child and denied having been pregnant, but did admit to having "put on some weight" during the past few months.

Mrs. Green complained of being ill just before handing a linen-wrapped bundle to a hotel maid. The maid found the dead baby's knife-hacked remains when she unwrapped the bundle a few moments later.

When his wife complained of being ill, Green called the Georgia Street Receiving hospital, just before summoning the maid whom his wife handed the linen bundle. As she readied herself to go to

Judges Approve New Conservancy District

By The Associated Press

DEFIANCE, O., Dec. 15—The legal path was cleared today for 18 counties to unite in conserving and improving the Maumee river valley.

A 15-judge panel yesterday approved petitions for a Maumee watershed conservancy district in northwestern Ohio by the skin of their legal teeth—8 to 7.

The decision followed 17 days of testimony including some by opponents who said the plan was impractical and unnecessary. Final entry of the decision was delayed pending agreement on the boundaries of the district.

Naming of three directors of the district also was deferred. Defiance will be the center of the district.

Other counties besides Defiance are:

Auglaize, Putnam, Williams, Mercer, Van Wert, Allen, Fulton, Henry, Paulding, Lucas, Wood, Hancock, Hardin and Shelby.

The judges voting for the project agreed petitioners had established the district would promote the health, safety, convenience and welfare of the 15 counties.

77 Witnesses Testify

Some 77 witnesses paraded before the court during the hearings. Some said the project would curtail outbreaks of polio virus spread in untreated sewage. One of the purposes of the project, said the petitioners, was to provide "for the collection and disposal of sewage and other liquid wastes produced within the district."

Objections centered on the belief the project was too elaborate. Witnesses said flood damage reported in the petition was exaggerated and that surplus water could be removed under present methods.

Proponents, however, said it was time man fought the wasting forces of flood waters. Every time it rains, they argued, part of the life giving soil is washed into Lake Erie. Floods in the past, they continued, have caused untold damage and hardship.

To objections that the project is not physically feasible, proponents pointed to a survey begun in August, 1946 by the Army engineers. A preliminary report said the project is physically feasible.

Proponents Objectives

Main points covered in the project's objectives, are:

1. Flood prevention and water conservation for beneficial uses.

2. Regulation of stream channels by widening and deepening.

3. Reclaiming and filling wet and overflowed lands.

4. Provision for irrigation where needed.

5. Regulation of the flow of streams and conserving their waters.

6. Provision of water for domestic, industrial and public uses.

7. Collection and disposal of sewage and other liquid wastes produced within the district.

8. Prevention of shore erosion.

And how could these objectives be reached? Engineers say dam construction is the Number One problem.

At a proposed site, there may be a village which would be submerged by a reservoir built by the new dam. Relocating a village is a complicated task, the engineers agree.

But backers of the project feel that and other efforts are worth the toil and money in the long run. They foresee keeping the rich black swamp topsoil inside the valley, raising the water table so wells are not dry all year and the retention of water for forest recreation and industrial supply.

Cost Still a Question

Cost is still a question and won't be solved until all the surveys and problems are laid end to end and added up.

The administrative problem also

The Hedgerow Hero

I commanded a light ... the 102nd Calvary Reconnaissance squadron," he said, and my invention, if you want to call it that, was something anybody in the front lines would have come up with in a few days. Our squadron just happened to be the first to try it out and develop it."

• • •

FOR SIX WEEKS after the landing in Normandy the American Army made advances measured in terms of yards rather than miles. The landscape offered almost as much resistance to progress as did the dug-in enemy.

The chief obstacle were the famous Normandy hedgerows. They were massive banks of dirt, centuries old, and topped by ... gnarls of shrubbery and small trees.

"When our tanks hit them it was like crashing into a stone wall," said Culin. "And if we tried to climb over them, the under belly of the tank was exposed. The German anti-tank guns then would rip us open like sardine cans. Our own tank guns were pointed at the sky—useless. We couldn't defend ourselves."

The problem was to find a way for the tanks to force a path through the hedgerows, guns firing, instead of clamboring over them. At first combat engineers were sent out on foot to blast holes in the hedgerows. But they were picked off by German infantry.

"One day my commanding officer called a meeting of non-coms to get suggestions," said Culin. "I didn't know anything about mechanics or engineering. But I had seen a lot of German iron roadblocks.

"I suggested putting sharpened chunks of iron from these roadblocks on our tanks so we could dig through the hedgerows."

• • •

THEY TRIED IT. They welded four flanges to a crossbar, fixed it to a tank—and the 15-ton vehicle pitch-forked its way right through the nearest hedgerow.

"Gen. Bradley heard about it and came down to watch a demonstration," said Culin. "He saw it worked, and swore us to secrecy. He then secretly had 600 of our frontline tanks equipped. They were used to spearhead our attack."

The device caught the Germans completely by surprise, and the American Army made a successful breakthrough of the Nazi lines at St. Lo on July 25th, 1944 —The breakthrough that carried to the Siegfried line.

"Later they called me and three others back to corps headquarters and gave us the Legion of Merit for the invention," said Culin. "All it meant to me was a half-day off from the front.

"One of those who got a medal," he grinned, "was an officer who insisted when I made the suggestion that it would never work."

• • •

CULIN LOST HIS left foot and part of his right thigh blown off a few weeks later in the Huertgen forest when he stepped on a German mine and fell on another one.

"But it didn't make me a pacifist," he said. "Hell, no. I don't think we're doing half enough right now. I only hope we don't make the same mistake we made in 1939."

BOB HOPE BIDS FOR RADIO, TV STATIONS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Bob Hope, the radio comedian, Tuesday put in a bid for the television and radio stations of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times at Louisville, Ky.

Communications Commission officials confirmed receipt of Hope's bid. The application itself was not immediately made public, pending clearance to the docket section.

Leonard Marks, attorney representing Hope here, said a reporter, however, that Hope had offered to match the $1,925,000 bid for station WHAS, WHAS-FM and WHAS-TV, previously made by Crosley Broadcasting Corp. of Cincinnati, O. and the Fort Industry Co. of Detroit, Mich.

Marks said the bid marks Hope's first venture into the ownership and management end of the radio business.

His application for the Louisville properties was made in the name of Hope Productions, Inc., of Hollywood, Calif., of which he is sole owner.

Marks said the application lists his net worth at $2,000,000, and that it was placed with the FCC last night, shortly before the deadline for bidding on the Courier-Journal and Times properties was to have expired.

BUSINESS VIEW CALLED CLOUDY

Uncertain Factors Make Forecasting Immediate Future Difficult.

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, Dec 15—Conceding that [illegible] forecasting visibility is [illegible] considering business commentators the Cleveland Trust Co today reported three separate predictions as to the state of business in 1949

The predictions included (1) renewed inflationary pressures, (2) maintenance of business activity at the current pace (3) development of a mild recession from readjustments which already have set in.

The bank, in its monthly Business Bulletin, said the economic crystal ball is clouded by several factors that are unique in the nation's history

It listed these as the record breaking length of the current postwar boom, the expenditure of nearly six per cent of the national income for peacetime armament and the unprecedented extent of foreign aid

Factors of Uncertainty

Other uncertainties, the Bulletin said, concern "the extent of proposed federal legislation, the direction of federal fiscal and monetary policies, the possible use of new government controls and the effect of all those on the operations of American industry."

Cleveland Trust added that increased federal spending and more complicated problems for businessmen are assured "if the government does what it has said that it intends to do"

The government, the bank said, is following the theory that "whatever added goverenmental funds are needed can be taxed away first from corporations, which are popularly supposed to be making too much money."

Misunderstanding Cited

The bank reiterated its contention that current corporate profits are misunderstood, asserting that "most business indicators expressed in inflated dollars are likewise at the highest point on record."

It added: "Too many rules, regulations and controls, along with too severe restrictions on profits would eventually make it impossible for business to operate effectively The road would lead to a controlled economy under which all economic power would be concentrated in the state and all citizens would be subject to the will of the central planners"

Major Factors Listed

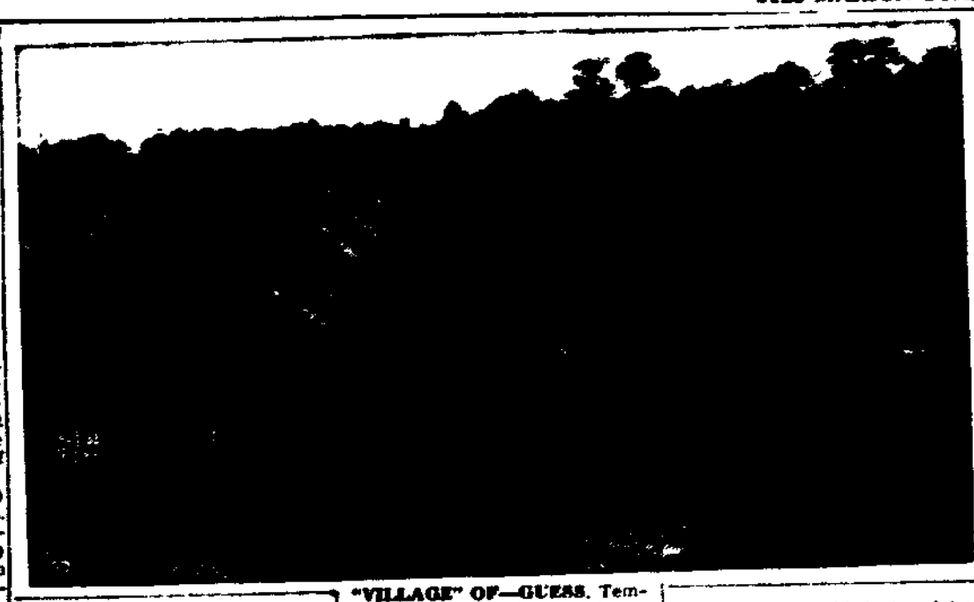
The Bulletin discussed in some detail what it described as "factors of major importance in the business outlook" — residential construction, industrial plant expenditures and government spending—and ventured these predictions for 1949

Residential construction — The housing shortage has eased since V J day, but the need for living space is by no means exhausted. There may be added stimulation to demand next year from low-cost housing legislation It will be another big year for home construction but probaoly about five per cent below the very high level of 1948

Industrial plant—Public utilities are expected to engage in heavy spending for modernization and expansion, continuing their long-range program The railroads also have a large amount of new equipment on order Many manufacturing industries have reached the latter stages of their programs, and some decline in spending by this group as a whole would not be surprising

Government spending—There apparently will be an increase of several billion dollars and this may be raised considerably by additional rearmament and foreign aid programs But whatever the total increase it will be small compared to the value of all goods and services—now running at the rate of $256 000 000 000 a year Next year's spending will have a great impact on the aircraft and other armaments industries and suppliers of materials for housing and public works programs

The governor of New York gets an annual salary of $25,000, the vice president of the United States $15 000



"VILLAGE" OF—GUESS. Temporary housing, for sweet potatoes, that is North Carolina farmers bury the crop in these teepee-shaped "vaults" for storage State produces nearly 8,000,000 bushels a year

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE FOR COUGHS DUE TO COLDS USED OVER 90 YEARS Soothes Throat Irritation

FAVORS STATUS QUO IN OHIO LEGISLATURE

CLEVELAND Dec 15 — The present proportion of urban and rural representation in the Ohio legislature should be retained state Grange master Joseph W Fichter maintains

"There has been no organized action by farm people directed against the development and improvement of cities" Fichter told the 76th annual meeting of the state Grange yesterday

"The legislature as now constituted makes it possible for the point of view on farm and rural communities to receive consideration in legislation and the present arrangement should be retained There should be no reapportionment of the legislature he added

The Grange master said state aid to local governments this year "represents an 87 per cent increase over 1945 a 43 per cent increase over last year, increases greater than the price level increase A study of our entire tax structure should precede any decision regarding the need for greater revenue or services both in city and rural districts"

The Buckeye state furnished 36 per cent of the gain in Grange membership for the nation and ranks first in the nation in the number of juvenile Granges, in juvenile membership and in the organization of new juvenile Granges," Fichter reported

We have one-fourth of the juvenile Grange membership in the nation, with 219 Granges organized in the last six years," he said.

"Where's it come from, huh, Mister?"

"Up outa the ground, Mister?"

"Is it a oil well?"

"Whoa, Sonny, one at a time! I wish it did come right up from a well down there in the ground—it'd sure save a lot of trouble, and cost your Daddy less money! No, it comes here in great big trucks."

"Red ones?"

"Yep, real bright red ones. It came out of the ground at first, though, way down in Texas, or Oklahoma . . ."

"Where cowboys live?"

"That's right. The oil companies hunt and hunt for it, and dig holes way down deep in the ground to get it. It's just black stuff then, and sometimes gooey, and it's called crude oil. They send it through long pipes—some of them big enough for you to crawl through—all the way here to Ohio."

"That's where I live."

"Yessir! Some of this crude oil comes on boats, too. Powerful boats push strings of barges up the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers."

"I can say Mississippi. Listen... Mississippi. That's a funny word. What happens then?"

"Well, the oil comes into big places called refineries. They're all full of pipes, and valves and machinery. That's where they make the black crude oil into gasoline and oil for your Daddy's car, and fuel oil that keeps your house warm all winter and lots of other things. And then the big trucks . . ."

"... the red ones?"

"Yep, the red ones. They bring it here to us dealers, and we put it in your Daddy's car like I'm doing now."

"Gee, that's a lotta stuff they do."

"Sure is. You want to be in the oil business when you grow up?"

"Naw—I'm gonna be a shortstop!"

Since 1942, Sohio has invested $140 million in new and improved facilities, including $53 million used in the finding of new underground crude oil reserves. So we are able to supply the people of Ohio today with more gasoline and more fuel oil than ever before in our history.

Yet to meet your increasing demands, Sohio is now investing another $100 million in a three-year program of adding more facilities for exploration, drilling, production, transportation, refining and delivery in Ohio of gasoline and oil. For a medium-sized company selling mainly in a single state, this is a huge investment.

Our earnings are not enough to pay for all this; we have had to borrow more money, and have had to sell additional stock to provide the additional funds needed.

The better we live, the more oil we need... and, to make sure we get it here in Ohio, Sohio is putting new money to work in record amounts.

JAP AROUSES HOPE FOR CURE OF CANCER

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Dec. 15—Isolation of a mysterious cancer-fighting agent by a Japanese research scientist has raised hopes today that a possible cure for one of the world's deadliest diseases might be found.

Experts who met in Chicago to discuss cancer brought out that some types of cancer may be caused by a virus, just as smallpox and other diseases.

Dr. Kinoshita said a news conference at the Illinois division of the American Cancer Society yesterday that the agent can be neutralized and cancers caused by it decreased or made to disappear. He has labeled it the "O Factor" in honor of his hometown of Osaka.

Medical experts who attended the news conference agreed that Dr. Kinoshita's studies strengthened the possibility that cancer is caused by some form of virus.

They stressed that if this is true, possibility of a cure would have to be sought in the same sort of measures which have brought diseases such as smallpox, also caused by a virus, under control.

Dr. Kinoshita, president of the Japanese cancer society and president of the Osaka municipal university, said that his mysterious "O Factor" was discovered accidentally during World War II.

Auxiliary Holds Yule Party for Children

An annual Christmas party for vets and children was given by the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, Monday night in the Dugout on South High street. About 50 children were present as guests of the auxiliary.

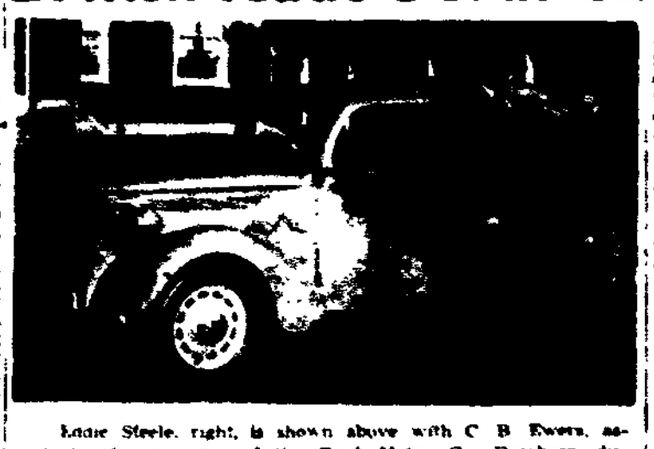
Rooms were gaily decorated with red and green streamers, a Christmas tree and miniatures of Santa Claus, and refreshments were served at tables holding trinkets and toys which later were given to the children. During the evening, Santa Claus arrived to present each child with a treat. A gift exchange also was held among the adults present.

The program, presented by the children, included a piano solo, "Silent Night," by Joan Neidhart, a vocal solo "Away in a Manger," by Marilyn Hoffman, accompanied by Mrs. Helen Burkley, a song and dance number by Judy Bish, a vocal solo by Jimmy Neidhart, and group singing of Christmas carols.

During the auxiliary meeting, plans were made for initiation of new members to be held in January. An announcement was made that the next regular meeting will be held Thursday, Dec. 30, instead of Friday night, due to it being New Years Eve. Members are asked to bring sales tax stamps to this meeting.

Plans were made to send Christmas boxes to the adopted ward at the Dayton Veterans hospital, and to give sunshine baskets to the shut-in members. It was announced that an appeal is being made for candy by the Chillicothe hospital. A current membership drive in the auxiliary will be concluded Dec. 26, with approximately 18 more members now needed to meet last year's standing.

British-Made Fords on Sale Here



Eddie Steele, right, is shown above with C. B. Ewers, assistant sales manager of the Ford Motor Co. Dearborn district, inspecting a new British-made Ford Sedan.

Eddie Steele Inc. of North Main street will be one of the few Ford dealers handling the three models of the English version of the Ford car, a limited number of which have been made available for sale in this country, it was announced today.

Dealers in the Dearborn district, of which Marion is a part, recently were given the opportunity to see and drive these models which include the Anglia and Prefect passenger cars and the Thames van.

These models are on display here this week at the Steele agency, 274 North Main St., including two of the Prefect and one Anglia sedans and one Thames van.

One of Few Dealers

The local agency is one of the half-hundred or so "associate dealers" in the Detroit area and Dearborn district to handle the marketing of the English product. Columbus dealers are the only others in this immediate area to serve as distributors.

The Anglia is a four-passenger, two-door sedan; the Prefect a four-passenger, four-door model. The Thames Van is the equivalent of an American light panel truck.

Under a plan developed by the Ford Motor Co. last Spring these vehicles, manufactured by Ford in Dagenham, England, were introduced in this country by a limited number of Ford dealers along the Eastern seaboard. Since then, according to J. R. Davis, vice president in charge of sales and advertising, the new line has been so enthusiastically accepted that the company has decided to extend sales to other regions.

Stock of Parts

Dealers carrying the English built line of cars and trucks will have at their disposal a complete stock of parts for servicing and repairs. Special schools are now being conducted by the company to familiarize dealer personnel with mechanical features of the foreign-built cars.

All of the passenger car and van models are powered by four-cylinder, 30 horsepower engines. Passenger cars average more than 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline and are capable of speeds up to 65 miles per hour.

The Ford Motor Company recently established an import sales section office in New York City to handle all administrative matters relating to the importation of the English products.

ON COLLEGE COMMITTEE

Miss Sarellen Roest of Marion, a sophomore at Hope College in Holland, Mich., has been named chairman of the costume crew for a three-act play, "The Late Christopher Bean," to be presented by the Hope College Palette and Masque Society on Jan. 12, 13, 15 and 17, according to information received from the university. Miss Roest is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Roest of 212 Elm street.

Mid-State League Representatives Meet

Invitations to join the Mid-State league will be sent to two undisclosed schools it was decided at a meeting of league representatives Monday night at the St. Mary rectory.

The meeting was called to discuss a replacement for Mt. Gilead which withdrew from the loop recently. Rev. Hartman, superintendent of Caro; Paul Wenzel, Carey football coach and acting president of the league; G. L. Kingsmore, Marysville superintendent; Dick Potter, Richwood coach, and Dr. A. J. Wagner of Marion.

Marion Serviceman Due To Leave China

Cpl. Charles C. Wolford, Marion serviceman who has been serving in Shanghai, China, for the past five months with the Airways and Air Communications Service, was to leave China Dec. 10 to return to the United States for discharge from the Air Force, according to information received from the service headquarters in California. He has been in the service three years. Cpl. Wolford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wolford of 619 Henry street.

Enlisting Jan. 29, 1946, at Fort Hayes, Columbus, Cpl. Wolford received basic training at Keesler Field, Miss., after which he attended radar school at Pinedale, Calif. Later he was sent to the island of Iwo Jima where he assisted in the operation of the Ground Control Approach System for the Airways and Air Communications Service. In July of this year, Cpl. Wolford was transferred to the AACS in Shanghai, China.

CRASH VICTIMS SAVED IN DRAMATIC RESCUE

By The Associated Press

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, Dec. 15—Six occupants of a crash-landed C-47 transport were snatched to safety from a frozen river yesterday in a glider pick-up rescue.

The pilot of the C-54, which dropped and picked up the glider, described the maneuver as extremely hazardous. The pilot, Lt. Col. Eugene Strouse explained the curvature of the river, trees and terrain afforded less than a 300-yard straightaway run at 10 feet altitude for the snatch.

The C-47 made a belly landing on the river in Yukon territory in 20-below-zero weather. The pilot said a dwindling gas supply forced him to land.

Search craft located the plane and the C-54 towing a glider took off on the rescue mission. On arrival at the crash scene, the glider was cut loose and its pilot circled to a landing within 75 yard of the transport.

A snatch frame was erected across the river. The C-54 made four passes before contact was made and the glider with seven men aboard was jerked into the air.

Ladd Field official said the rescue was the first of its kind in the Arctic.

The glider was piloted by Lt. Richard A. Hopkins of Sturgis, Mich. Col. Strouse is from Topeka, Kas.

Those aboard the crash-landed plane included Pfc. Richard D. Leppla, Lima, O., assistant engineer.

REWARD INCREASED

By The Associated Press

FREMONT, O., Dec. 15 — The reward offered for capture of Arthur Benner, Jr., 20, of Detroit, wanted on a charge of murdering Patrolman George (Joe) Biggs here Nov. 3, stood at $850 today. SHIREY CONVICTED OF BUYING STOLEN MEAT

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., Dec. 15 — Night club manager James Shirey, 31, convicted on charges of buying and receiving stolen meat today faced a possible one-to-seven-year prison term.

Shirey, third of 12 defendants to go on trial, was convicted yesterday. A common pleas court jury of 11 men and one woman fixed the value of the meat at $60, making the offense a felony.

Shirey's attorney immediately asked for a new trial, and Judge Harry Kilburger deferred sentence pending disposition of the motion.

Marion Nihiser, Lancaster meat market manager, was found guilty of a similar charge earlier this month, but the jury set the value of the meat at $30. This made the offense a misdemeanor. Nihiser has not been sentenced.

Dale V. Landis, a restaurant operator, was the other defendant to go on trial. He was found innocent.

Shirey admitted buying 15 hams on March 1. He said he paid $60 for them and bought the meat because it was unusually cheap. He denied knowing it was stolen.

Two state witnesses, Joseph Burke of Lancaster and Herbert Jeffers of Columbus, testified they sold 20 stolen hams to Shirey for $120 on Feb. 19. Burke on cross-examination, also said he took hams to Shirey's home on several occasions. Jeffers said he had taken ham to Shirey's home the night of Feb. 29.

Burke and Jeffers, both former employes of the Swift and Co. in Columbus, are under indictment in Columbus in connection with thefts of meat from the plant.

Shirey, manager of "Club 33" was convicted a few hours after the jury was sworn in.

A pantomime, "Why the Chimes Rang," will be presented and there will be other children's numbers. The programs will be open to the public, Rev. Holdridge said.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The Treatment of Arthritis.

So many people suffer from some type of arthritis and, unfortunately, too many of them are everlastingly trying some type of home treatment, so that when the doctor gets the case he often has to undo much of the damage that was done by this self-medication. What all sufferers from arthritis should know is that the successful treatment of this condition depends to a great extent upon telling one type of arthritis from another and then using the measures which have been found most successful for the variety of the disease present. Arthritis means inflammation of the joints but there are a number of forms of the condition.

For example arthritis may develop in patients with gout. In early attacks of this disease the gouty arthritis may be difficult to tell from other forms of acute inflammation of the joints. In such instances giving the patients the drug known as colchicine may be helpful in making the diagnosis since the colchicine will relieve the symptoms if the arthritis is due to gout, but will not bring any great benefits in arthritis due to other causes.

In stubborn cases, X-ray treatment of the affect joints may be helpful. Other forms of treatment which have been found to be of value is reducing the weight to normal and eliminating certain types of meat in the diet that is those which come from glands, such as sweetbreads. The use of the colchicine between attacks in severe cases may tend to lessen the severity and frequency of the attacks.

Probably the most common form of arthritis is that known as rheumatoid arthritis, in which there is often some deformity of the joints. The cause is not known, nor does there seem to be any single method of treatment which is successful. What is recommended is a program of treatment carefully adjusted to each individual case.

For example heat may be applied by means of warm baths or an infra-red lamp to relieve the pain and stiffness. When the pain is controlled exercises of the involved joints are helpful. Operations may be necessary to correct joint deformities. Mental and emotional disturbances should be eliminated whenever possible. Getting rid of infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, and elsewhere in the body is a little part of the treatment, but because any special effect on the arthritis but because it will improve the patient's general health, and thus actually help nature overcome the disease, it may be of great benefit, but may be helpful in some cases.

The use of gold [illegible] in some few patients. The best results are [illegible] and the patient [illegible] but the [illegible] has to be watched carefully for [illegible] reactions to the [illegible].

AUTO DEALERS FACE NEW HOUSE PROBE

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—House investigators are looking on one auto dealer's alleged used customers' racket to set up a profitable business, it was learned today.

The racket involved as few new and used cars from the dealer's lot as were called to testify at a house subcommittee hearing on unfair trade practices. Representatives of the Ford Motor Co., National Automobile Dealers association and New York State Dealers association also were invited.

A committee source said the dealer had as much as $45,000 in deposits to lend out. He kept some customers with deposits waiting for months for their cars, it was said, while he sold new models to customers with up-to-date trade-ins.

At first the committee source said the dealer placed the deposits in his general operating fund. He abandoned this, the source said, when the manufacturer whose cars he was selling frowned on the practice.

The manufacturer instructed the dealer that the deposited funds should be "secured." The building loan practice followed, with the dealer making a profit through interest collected and the depositors getting no share.

In addition to the five local dealers, the subcommittee invited J. R. Davis, vice president of Ford Motor Co.; Ben T. Wright, president, National Automobile Dealers' association, Evanston, Ill.; and C. D. Henderson, executive vice president, New York State Auto Dealers association, Albany, N. Y.

This is the third phase of public hearings which began last month when the subcommittee charged that auto dealers had clipped the public for $450,000,000 this year. Previous hearings brought out testimony of huge profits on trade-ins and $500 tips for immediate delivery of new cars.

Cautions Against Controls, Rationing

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 15—President Allan B. Kline of the American Farm Bureau Federation declared Tuesday a new depression cannot be prevented by resorting to price controls and rationing.

In a keynote speech prepared for his organization's 30th annual convention, Kline said the biggest problem facing the nation is the possibility of another "boom and bust" cycle.

He said the country is in the midst of a "great inflation."

Kline said proposals are being made that the government reestablish price controls, allocation of scarce materials and rationing, as measures for stabilizing the economy.

"Let us be a little cautious," he urged, "about substituting the clumsy techniques of government controls for the glorious future of a free enterprise system in this country."

FARM BUREAU REJECTS PLAN

Turns Down Suggestion It Help Get Government Out of Price Support.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 15—The American Farm Bureau Federation convention turned a cold shoulder today to a suggestion that it help get the government out of the business of supporting farm prices.

Under this suggestion, prices would be permitted to move up and down independent of government action. When supplies were large in relation to demand, prices would be allowed to go down. Likewise, when supplies were short, prices would be permitted to go up.

Farmers would get government benefit payments in amounts sufficient to bring their income to "fair and adequate levels" when prices were low.

The convention was urged by Frank K. Wooley, deputy administrator of the agriculture department's production and marketing administration, to consider such a plan.

Wooley did not endorse this plan, but he did urge the convention to weigh it "carefully."

The convention resolutions committee tossed the idea aside. It held to the Bureau's old stand that the farmer is entitled to get his entire income at the market place, and not a part of it from the consumer and a part from the government.

Under the present support program, the government seeks to prevent the market price from dropping below a certain level. In the case of most products, that level is 90 per cent of the parity price.

(Parity is a legal standard for measuring market prices. Farm law declares it to be fair equally to producers and those who buy their products.)

In general, the government attempts to keep prices from going below the support level by removing a part of the supply from the market. It does this by several methods, chiefly by purchasing a part of the supply or by encouraging farmers to store a part of it under crop loans.

In the case of potatoes in recent years, the government found it necessary to destroy a part of the surplus because it could find no use for it.

The convention appeared headed toward a re-endorsement of a support system authorized by the Aiken-Hope law enacted by the last session of congress.

Russia Uses 29th Veto To Bar Ceylon from UN

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Dec. 15—Russia cast her twenty-ninth veto in the United Nations security council today to keep Ceylon out of the United Nations.

The veto was Russia's second on Ceylon's membership bid. The Soviets now have used 12 of their 29 votes in the council to bar seven countries from membership.

Before turning to the vote on Ceylon, the council put off action on Israel's membership application until Friday.

GUATEMALA ARMY UNSEATS PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

GUATEMALA, GUATEMALA, Dec. 15—A military coup has unseated President Salvador Castaneda Castro of El Salvador after a day of fighting, direct reports from the capital said today.

The president's desire for extension of his four-year term of office for another two years from March 1, 1949, appeared to be at least one of the factors. Elections for a constituent assembly to pass on that question were to be held Thursday and Friday.

Four Latin American governments were overthrown earlier this year. These were in Costa Rica, Paraguay, Peru and Venezuela.

A distinction of El Salvador in her size Little larger than Maryland, she is the smallest of the Central American republics. Fronting on the Pacific between Guatemala and Nicaragua, she has a total area of 13,173 square miles. Coffee is the main base of her economy. The population totals 2,018,895.

Usually reliable sources said Castaneda resigned late yesterday and was taken to police headquarters in San Salvador, the capital. The city was calm after hours of fighting.

The army, a force of five divisions, was reported in control of the country.

PASSENGER ENGINE BURNS, NONE HURT

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15—The locomotive of the Baltimore and Ohio's passenger train "The Cincinnatian" caught fire and was enveloped in flames for a time here today. None of the trainmen or passengers, including several prominent Ohioans, was injured.

The fire started just as the train pulled into the Winton Place station, in an outlying section of the city. Firemen praised the action of Engineer A. R. Barber of Chillicothe, O., in backing up the blazing engine to remove the threat of fire to the station and an adjoining industrial plant.

The fire did not disable the locomotive and it continued its eastward trip to Washington, D. C., after a 25-minute delay.

Among the passengers, who were asked to move to rear coaches of the train as a precaution, were Charles F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors Corp.; Lewis B. Rock, publisher of the Dayton, O., Journal-Herald, and several relatives of the late Orville and Wilbur Wright, Co-inventors of the airplane.

Fire Marshal Robert B. Williams said the fire apparently started when oil leaked into the ash box beneath the locomotive.

DAUGHERTY

Later, the committee, including Senators Wheeler of Montana and Brookhart of Iowa held a session at a Washington Court House hotel.

In 1930, Daugherty, as president of the Ohio State Bank of Washington Court House, was indicted on 58 counts charging embezzlement, misapplication of funds and falsification of the bank's condition.

He was convicted in common pleas court, but an appeals court remanded the case back to common pleas court for a new trial. No new trial ever was held.

At one time, Daugherty was president of two banks and the unquestioned political leader of this county. After the teapot dome affair and the collapse of his banks and political leadership, Daugherty suffered a corresponding social decline.

The Ohio State bank failed as a result of the Daugherty scandal and eventually paid off 28 cents on the dollar. The loss to this community of 10,000 persons was estimated at $1,000,000.

In later years Mal S. Daugherty, once the friend of persons in high places, walked alone on the streets of Washington Court House. It was readily apparent, even to strangers, that some sort of social ostracism was operating. Person after person passed the old man without speaking.

Three weeks ago, the aged former banker entered the rest home, where he died last night. Two weeks ago, the surviving son, Ellis Daugherty of Washington Court House, asked the state to appoint a guardian. The courts named county prosecutor Clark Wickensimer.

For many months, until he entered the rest home, Daugherty had been living with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Easton, a Negro family.

Daugherty was president of the Midland bank of Washington Court House at one time. The committee investigating the teapot dome scandal wanted to look at the bank's books. Reports were that some of the funds said to have changed hands in the oil deals might be on deposit in the bank.

The Washington Court House banker refused to make the books available. The Midland later was merged with two others into the Ohio State bank that failed.

SLAYING DISCLOSES AUTO THEFT RING

By The United Press

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 15—The slaying of an 18-year-old high school student resulted today in a discovery of a juvenile auto theft ring, known as the "car a month club," whose members were required to steal at least one car every month.

Existence of the club was disclosed when authorities questioned a friend of Robert Kellogg, 18, who died after a fight with a soldier on Seattle's Aurora bridge the night of Nov. 12.

The friend, Christopher Barker, 18, told police that he and Kellogg stole a car in Olympia and drove 60 miles to Seattle.

On the way, Barker said, they picked up Pvt. Woodrow McEntire, 34, of King's Mountain, N. C., who is stationed at Fort Lewis. When they got to Seattle, he said, Kellogg attacked the soldier.

In the fight, Kellogg received fatal injuries and McEntire suffering bullet wounds in his arm and scalp.

Investigation of the fight disclosed that many youths were members of a widespread car theft ring.

Chief of detectives George Erickson said "we don't know much about it yet but the idea seems to be that each youth had to steal one car a month to keep his membership."

In nearby Tacoma, county detective John Kendersi said 20 boys of 50 questioned admitted that they were members of the club. Officials said the ring apparently was responsible for a large number of car thefts and strippings during the past six weeks.

'DEWEY' PLANE HAS AIR FORCE BLUSHING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—The Herald Tribune told a story today about a mystery plane—perhaps planned by bad election guessers—for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

An embarrassed Air Force, the Herald Tribune said in a Washington dispatch, has a mystery airplate on its hands and, up to now, has managed to keep the situation quiet. Apparently, the craft is a sort of thinking-after headache for Air Force and industry bad guessers in the presidential election.

The newspaper said that unconfirmable but persistent reports in aviation circles are that the plane, a Lockheed Constellation, was specially outfitted to become a flying flagship for President Thomas E. Dewey.

"The Air Force, military air transport service to which the super-liner has been assigned since Nov. 25, denies any knowledge of the mystery ground," the story said.

The service however, frankly admitted that the new airplane far outshines President Truman's Douglas DC-6 Independence in splendor and appointments of what ordinarily would be a 60-passenger cabin," the newspaper said.

Spokesmen for the service the story continued, also confirmed that the airplane has been kept at the Washington national airport for more than two weeks without any publicity whatever."

ESCAPE ATTEMPT IN MANSFIELD FAILS

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 15—Three inmates failed in an escape attempt at the Ohio reformatory early today when two fell from a 25-foot wall, Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke reported.

Jerry Dye, 21, sentenced from Montgomery county, suffered fractures of both ankles in the fall, and Charles Wood, 21, of Franklin county, suffered a fracture of the upper left leg. Both are in the reformatory hospital.

A third man, Lewis Kerr, 21, sentenced from Lucas county, surrendered after being discovered by a tower guard.

The three were working the night shift in the reformatory power house when they made the escape attempt. They used a 15-foot iron pipe taken from the power house to reach the top of the wall. An electric extension cord used by Dye and Wood to reached the ground, broke, and caused their fall.

Tower Guard Hal Baker alerted when an alarm was sounded by a power house guard, saw Kerr atop the wall. The latter surrendered immediately.

Locomotives Keep VA Hospital Running

By The Associated Press

CHILLICOTHE, O., Dec. 15—Two locomotives have been puffing and puffing on the siding at the veterans administration hospital for two days now—helping keep patients warm, clean and fed.

Workmen at the hospital boilers are digging frozen coal, using three shovels. One of the engines broke down two days ago.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad rushed out two locomotives as soon as other plants for $1 a day and a driver.

Hospital Manager Dr. Cecil Shroat said he and the 2,100 patients were very grateful."

FACTIONS IN SCHOOL FIGHT GET TOGETHER

By The Associated Press

TWINSBURG, O., Dec. 15 — Opposing community factions in the Twinsburg school dispute today showed a willingness to get together and talk over their problems.

No classes have been held since Monday in a controversy over administration of school affairs.

A committee from the newly-formed Twinsburg Citizens league and one from the Real Estate Owners association met last night and discussed points of difference for nearly an hour.

The two groups considered a compromise proposal submitted by a volunteer peacemaker, Lynn B. Ford, a Twinsburg alumnus.

Another meeting of the two organizations was scheduled for tonight.

The situation appears to be better now, mainly because it seems that the school board is ready to discuss the problem, reported John Williams, president of the real estate group which has been opposed to the school administration.

A proposal submitted by Ford, a Twinsburg resident 22 years and personnel director of the Pipe Machinery Co. of Cleveland, has been accepted by the school board and the Citizens league, which supports the board.

Ford said he offered the proposal as an individual and one deeply interested in the school. He has two children in the lower grades.

The school was closed after high school principal Glen Powell and the entire faculty of 17 resigned, declaring they could no longer continue in the face of what they termed "outside interference."

Fire Causes No Loss At Osgood Factory

Sparks from an acetylene torch caused waste oil to catch fire at the Osgood Co. plant on Cheney avenue at 3.59 p. m. yesterday, the fire department reports. Firemen from the Central fire station on South Prospect street and West Center street stations answered the call and extinguished the blaze with no loss.

The only other department call was a false alarm. An unidentified person called city police and said a car was on fire at Center and Prospect streets at 12.11 a. m. today. The call proved to be false.

2 OHIO COLLEGES HIT BY TAX BOARD ORDER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—Property valued at $1,294,770 in 12 Ohio counties went back on the tax books Tuesday by order of the state board of tax appeals.

The order struck hardest at Kenyon college and the University of Cincinnati. Kenyon's $315,000 student union building went back on the tax books because it contains a beer bar.

Twenty-six pieces of property belonging to the University of Cincinnati were restored to the tax books because they return an income. The board valued the property at $347,890.

The board said property owners affected by the order may file appeals with it before Dec. 31.

NINE TRUSTEES NAMED BY FUND

Annual Meeting of Community Foundation Held at Army Citadel.

Nine trustees were elected and reports of agencies made at the annual meeting of the Marion Community Foundation last night at the Salvation Army citadel. L. Otis Porter, president of the association, presided.

Elected to serve on the board of trustees for a three-year term were A. W. Kette, John F. Lacey Mr. Porter, Homer D. Cole, R. H. Lewis, Miss Geraldine Hord, J. B. Bray, Mrs. A. J. Wagner and Gene Rogers. In keeping with the foundation's constitution six of the newly-elected trustees were named by the board and three by the council of social agencies. The board consists of 27 members, nine of whom retire each year. The board will meet in the near future to organize and elect officers.

In opening the meeting Mr Porter expressed his belief that progress has been made during the past year and credited much of it to the fact that "we were fortunate in having good help during the financial campaign." In looking ahead Mr. Porter called attention to the fact that expenses of the agencies are increasing and added "We still have a tremendous job ahead of us." He expressed the belief that next year's budget, because of the increasing living costs, would probably be higher. "Because our campaign was a success this year, we cannot afford to rest on our oars this year," he added.

The following agencies which make up the foundation presented reports: YMCA, Earl N. Hale, executive secretary; Hugh Hay, Boy Scout executive; Adjutant Mary Nisiewicz, Salvation Army; Miss Lydia Ebel, Girl Scout executive, and Mrs. W. E. Miley, of the King's Daughters, who are in charge of the hospitalization fund.

Missionary Program Arranged for Sunday

Rev. Ernest Finkenbiner of Bellefontaine, deputation secretary for Christian Missions Inc., will speak at three services at the Maranatha Bible church Sunday in an all-day missionary Bible conference. He will give Bible expositions and will tell briefly of the work of missionary stations in French West Africa, Rev. Earl L. Holliday, pastor, announced. On the Island of Martinique is another station of Christian Missions Inc. Missionary workers there, Miss Doris Gilbert and Miss Bertha Spoor, who spoke at a missions conference here last spring, are the most recent addition to the Martinique staff. Misses Mary Gardner and Bertha Odor, who were here also, are now on their way to West Africa.

The services will be at 10:45 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. and 7:30. Representative delegations from surrounding communities are expected at the afternoon service. In addition to his work for Christian Missions Inc., Rev. Finkenbiner is a trustee of Israel's Remnant, a Jewish missionary work carried on by Rev. Fred Kendal, who has appeared in Marion, with headquarters at Detroit, Mich. Brief mention of that work will be made at the services here also. These missionary projects are supported by Maranatha church.

To Give Daniels Clemency Hearing

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—Robert Murl Daniels, who is scheduled to die Jan. 3 for a triple slaying, will be given a "routine" clemency hearing by the state pardon and parole commission next Tuesday.

The 24-year-old Daniels admitted he and John West killed six people in a 14-day crime spree last summer. West was slain and Daniels captured at a police roadblock in Van Wert county.

Daniels was sentenced to die for the cornfield murders of John Niebel, superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory farm, Mrs. Niebel and their daughter, Phyllis, 21.

CARDINGTON COUPLE WED 50 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Barnhart Will Observe Anniversary.

A former Marion couple, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Barnhart of near Cardington, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday. In observance of the event, the couple will hold open house to their friends and neighbors from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon at their home.

The bride of 50 years ago was Miss Elizabeth Ann Jacobs, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Conrad Jacobs of near Prospect. She became Mrs. Barnhart in a ceremony which took place at the home of her parents with Rev. Charles Schoaf of the Prospect Reformed church officiating. Mr Barnhart's parents also were at one time residents of Marion county.

The celebrants resided in Marion on Pearl street for a number of years, and during this time, Mr Barnhart owned and operated a barber shop on South Prospect street. Later they moved to a farm south of Marion, and then to their present home on a farm near Cardington.

Mr and Mrs. Barnhart have two children, Murrell L. Barnhart of Ravenna, and Mrs. J. R. Mitchell of Columbus. They also have two grandchildren, Robert Mitchell of Cleveland and Mrs. Jack Seifert of Columbus, and one great-grandson, Bobbie.

On Sunday, Dec. 12, Mr and Mrs. Barnhart were honored guests when members and families of the San Souci club of Marion entertained with a dinner in their honor at the Richland parish house. Mrs. Barnhart is a member of this club.

EMMA BERGER CLASS PARTY

A Christmas party will be held by the Emma Berger Bible class of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church Thursday night in the church parish house. A potluck supper will be served at 6:30 and members are asked to bring table service. Gifts will be collected to fill sunshine baskets for Christmas.

STEEL CO. EMPLOYES AWARDED "OSCARS"

Pollak Workers in New Film Are Honored.

Fifteen Marion employes of the local plant of the Pollak Steel Co. received realistic Hollywood style "Oscar" statuettes last Friday and Saturday nights.

Occasion of the award was the local showing of the Rail Steel Bar association's technicolor movie "Rail Steel in the World of Today." Many scenes from this production were made in Pollak Steel's Marion plant, and the following 14 men and one woman who appeared in the film are employes whose work was featured. The "Oscar winners" were: Grover Hahn, Fred Tharp, Lowell Titus, Nihle Swain, Mickey Andrianc, Gene Copeland, Hurschel Blanton, Adeline Roberts, John Hanson, Paul Steele, Dave Armstrong, Jacob Ebert, Robert Hurley, George Myers and James Ruby.

Both nights the film was shown here Pollak employes were welcomed to the screening by David Pollak of the executive staff of the local plant E. J. Baxter, personnel director of the local plant, was master of ceremonies at both film showings here, and made the individual awards of "Oscars" to the employes.

Over 1,000 persons attended the two nights' showing of the film at Edison Junior High school auditorium. Presentation of the film was made by C. L. Volkman of Pollak Steel Co.'s Cincinanti office who was selected by the Rail Steel Bar association as executive director of the picture and who will travel with the film wherever it is shown to explain unusual features of the film of interest to steel men. Many executives of the Pollak Steel Co.'s Cincinnati office attended the film showing here.

The main causes of farm fires include lightning, defective chimneys, sparks on roofs, stoves and furnaces, hot ashes, spontaneous ignition of hay, misuse of electricity, matches and smoking.

POLITICAL APATHY IS GERMAN WORRY

By The Associated Press

PASSAU GERMANY Dec 15 —"The people are not interested in politics."

This apathy is an operation in reports to military government from towns and villages throughout Germany.

It shows the problem that military government faces in trying to spread democracy among people who have never learned or understood that they have a personal interest in their country's politics.

A military government officer pointed to a report from Zulpach, a small Bavarian town near here.

It contained the same line: "The people are not interested in politics." Then it added: "They are worried, however about Germany's future."

"There's our real problem," said the MG officer, Marion Glossop, from Winchester, Ill.

Canned goods and foodstuffs will be taken for an offering during the service for Christmas baskets. Women may send things for the baskets to the parish house this weekend, it was stated. Time of the Saturday event will be 3 p. m. until 5.

Gym Objectors Turned Down in Springfield

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD O. Dec 15— Two teen-age Chinese boys tried to enroll in Springfield schools yesterday but were turned down.

The boys, John 15 and Chester Dermit, 6, said the physical education course in their own school is "too wridgly." They said Chinese children get gym classes and to learn boxing were contrary to their Buddhist training.

E. E. Holt, city school superintendent, said the Turner boys were not Springfield residents.

STEEL-

the lowest priced metal

At four cents a pound—the average price today at the mills—steel remains the lowest priced of all metals.

To help combat inflation steel companies have consistently followed a policy of price moderation.

Steel prices did not rise during the war. The moderate increases since the war have by no means kept pace with rising costs.

Steelmaking costs have risen sharply. The costs of scrap, coal, wages and freight, all of which directly influence the cost of making steel, have gone up rapidly.

Maintenance and repair costs of steel companies are at an all-time high. The costs of replacing and improving equipment have in many cases doubled and tripled.

Steel remains low priced at four cents a pound.

Presidents Whip Whippets, 36-29, To Even Record

The Harding Presidents evened up their season record to two wins and two losses as they downed the Shelby Whippets, 36-29 on the Shelby hardwoods last night.

Marion's Prexies were led by their big sophomore center, Jack Daum, with 17 points as he and forward Bill Buckingham together scored 28 of Harding's tallies Captain and center for the Whippets, Bob Cronenwett, sparked the Shelby attack with 12 points in the low scoring contest

The Harding cagers jumped off to an early lead scoring 14 points while holding the hosts to a mere six in the initial period. Tiring in the second quarter, however, the locals garnered only five markers while the Shelby men poured in on to the tune of ten points. After slowly creeping up on the Prexies, the Shelby men finally tied it up at 23 all in the third quarter.

Suddenly, the Presidents slowed their defense, throwing the Shelby squad off balance. Playing careful basketball in the final stanza, Harding collected 11 points while again holding Shelby to six.

Jack Daum started the ball rolling by dropping the game's first bucket and following with a free throw. Bill Buckingham found the hoop to post a five-point lead before Shelby guard Clark swished a free throw. As the period ended Captain Dick Thomas made a beautiful long shot, intercepted the Shelby pass-out, and quickly registered another basket for the Presidents.

In the second quarter Shelby registered five points before Harding tallied on two charity tosses by center Jack Daum Bill Buckingham was the only player to score in the rest of the third quarter.

Jack Daum and Bill Buckingham scored all but two of the Harding game winning points in the final quarter. Daum hit for five, Buckingham for four, and Thomas dropped two.

The Whippet Reserves led all the way as they trounced the Harding JVs, 28-16 Paine led Shelby with nine points while Doug Brokaw topped the Vice Presidents with five free throws but only one bucket for seven points

OHIO DEER SEASON AT HALFWAY MARK

By The Associated Press

Ohio's biggest deer-hunting season reaches the halfway mark today with thousands of hunters bringing down hundreds of deer in 13 north-eastern Ohio counties and no accidents reported.

Fog hampered the nimrods on opening day, Monday, but scattered returns from the shotgun firing lines indicated that when the shooting season ends at 4 p. m. Saturday the total bag would exceed the 1,000 animals brought down in eight northeastern Ohio counties last year.

In Trumbull county 65 deer were bagged on the first day of the season, game officials reported, and in Columbiana county the take was 50 for two days, compared with 60 in all of last season.

Lake county game protector Forrest Chamberlain said his incomplete tally for opening day was 11, while Mahoning county, which includes metropolitan Youngstown, reported a kill of 11 to noon yesterday.

Game warden Charles Mitchell said 1,000 permits were issued in Ashtabula county where Kermit Lewis, Pierpont farmer, shot a 14-point buck on opening day. The buck weighed 325 pounds dressed —one of the largest ever seen in the area

Other counties open to deer hunting are Geauga, Portage, Summit, Stark, Tuscarawas, Carroll, Jefferson, and Harrison.

Delaware Meet Set Sept. 19 to Sept. 24.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec 15—Harness racing's major league, the Grand Circuit, will run from May 18 to Nov 16 next year at 17 tracks across the nation

Grand Circuit directors drafted the 27-week program here yesterday.

Milwaukee was dropped from the big wheel and Old Orchard, Me and Sedalia, Mo., were added. Old Orchard, a long-time member until it resigned in 1946, was given a July 25-30 meeting. Sedalia received the Aug 22-27 dates previously held by Milwaukee The Wisconsin city did not apply for 1949 dates

The 1949 program opens at Fairmont Park, Collinsville, Ill., just six weeks later than the 1948 circuit got under way It closes five weeks later than this year—at Hollywood Park, Calif. The 1948 season opened at Hollywood Park.

Total purses next year will be $2,200,000, compared with $2,098,000 in 1948.

Greenville, O, and Terre Haute, Ind, also applied for 1949 memberships, but were turned down in favor of Sedalia and Old Orchard. The five-day sessions over the latter parks' mile ovals were approved subject to action by their state racing associations.

The Grand Circuit asked the U.S. Trotting Association to set up machinery for registration of colors of owners and public trainers. This would resemble the thoroughbred sport's method of identifying race participants. The "Grand" suggested the registration and identification be made mandatory Jan. 1, 1950.

Sid Gilman Tipped As New U. C. Grid Coach

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15—University of Cincinnati officials aren't talking but Sid Gilman is doped to be on his way back to Ohio to become head football coach at U C.

Gilman, who has seen coaching service—either as an assistant or head coach—at Ohio State, Denison and Miami now is line mentor at the U. S Military Academy.

The Cincinnati Enquirer said flatly today that the University of Cincinnati faculty committee on athletics has approved Gillman as successor to Ray Nolting. The appointment will have to be approved, however, by the U. C. board of directors.

Dr. Reed Shank, chairman of the athletic committee of the board of directors, would make no comment, saying only that he was not a member of the faculty committee. At West Point, Gillman also said he had no comment.

The U. C. coaching job was thrown open last week when the board of directors declined to renew Nolting's contract after he had refused to resign.

Nolting had been the target of considerable criticism throughout the Bearcats' losing 1948 season and Gillman has been mentioned for weeks as a probable successor.

Gillman, a native of Minneapolis, played on Ohio State's teams in the early 30's and then was assistant coach at his alma mater for a year. From there he went to Denison university at Granville, O., for three years as head coach. Then it was back to Ohio State as assistant and then back to Denison for one season. He became head coach at Miami at Oxford, O., in 1943 and served four years.

Gillman's Miami teams won 31 games, lost only six and tied one

He has been classed as one of the leading proponents of the "two platoon" system of football and used it at Miami.

There were some reports that the board of directors might meet today but Shank's only comment on that was "it might be—we often don't have more than an hour or two of notice."

Baseball Markets Do Big Business As Meeting Ends

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 15—Baseball personalities big and small headed for their respective homes today after the annual winter meetings

No fewer than 12 big leaguers changed uniforms during the final 24 hours, boosting the total for the week to 21.

The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phils, busiest traders in the National league, worked out a four-player deal which sent first baseman Eddie Waitkus and pitcher Hank Borowy to the Phils in exchange for pitchers Emil (Dutch) Leonard and Walter (Mond) Dubiel

The Cubs before the meeting gave Philadelphia outfielder Bill Nicholson and pitcher Russ Meyer The Phils sent outfielder Harry Walker to the Cubs

Earlier in the day, the Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators completed a big trade involving five players. The Indians acquired first baseman Mickey Vernon and pitcher Early Wynn in exchange for first baseman Eddie Robinson and pitchers Ed Klieman and Joe Haynes.

The deal was in the nature of an answer to the Yankees who on Monday night had obtained pitcher Fred Sanford and catcher Roy Partee from the St. Louis Browns for a cash outlay of $100,000, pitchers Charles (Red) Embree and Dick Starr and catcher Sherman Lollar.

The Giants, who failed to land a man during the meetings, sold relief pitcher Ken Trinkle to the Phils. The Yankees also traded first basemen Steve Souchock to the Chicago White Sox for rookie outfielder Jim Delsing and another player to be announced later.

At the minor league sessions in Minneapolis last week the Cubs traded catcher Clyde McCullough and pitcher Cliff Chambers to the Pittsburgh Pirates for third baseman Frank Gustine and rookie pitcher Calvin McLish.

Bucky Harris, who was released as manager of the Yankees at the end of the '48 season hooked on as a pilot at San Diego, and Dick Bartell, former star big league shortstop and Ted Lyons, former White Sox manager and pitcher, were named to the coaching staff of the Detroit Tigers

The Indians signed Steve O'Neill deposed Tiger skipper as coach and named coach Muddy Ruel to the front office Connie Mack of the Athletics signed two of his old boys Jimmy Dykes as a coach and Wally Moses as a utility outfielder Billy Southworth of the Boston Braves replaced Coach Freddie Fitzsimmons with Jimmy Brown, who played under him at St Louis.

MIAMI TOPS DAYTON TO TAKE OHIO LEAD

By The Associated Press

Miami university's Redskins pulled into the lead of Ohio's college basketball parade last night by dumping Dayton university 41-37.

It was Miami's fourth win without a defeat, and the Redskins did it the hard way—by playing much of the last half without their scoring ace, Bob Brown, who fouled out.

Capital and Mount Union also continued undefeated. Mount Union came from behind in the last two minutes to spoil Ohio university's perfect record at Athens, 38-35, and Capital had an easy time with Denison at Granville, 73-45.

Bowling Green, a perennial Ohio power, lost an overtime heartbreaker to mighty Holy Cross in the Boston Garden, 72-66. The score was tied 14 times. The Falcons had a 64-62 lead with five seconds to go, but Bob Cousy flung in a one-hander from midcourt to send it into an overtime.

Charley Share, the Bee-Gee's six foot 11 inch center, scored 23 points, but the Holy Cross wonderman, George Kaftan, notched 21 and Cousy hit for 15.

Cleveland Brown quarterbacks Otto Graham and Cliff Lewis are neighbors in Bay Village, O., a suburb of Cleveland.

BISHOPS MEET B-W AT START OF TRIP

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O, Dec 15—With two victories and one defeat behind them, Ohio Wesleyan's Battling Bishop cagers engage an old rival, Baldwin-Wallace, at the Cleveland Arena Thursday in the first game of a holiday road trip

Following the B-W battle, the Bishops journey to New York state where they will meet Buffalo State Saturday and St Bonaventure Monday.

Jud Millhon, classy sophomore center from Upper Arlington, has averaged an even 23 points in the first three games to lead the Bishop scorers by a wide margin. His 69-point total is made up of 27 field goals and 15 free throws, averaging 51 9 per cent of his two-point attempts and batting 50 per cent from the charity line.

In the 69-51 defeat by Washington & Jefferson at Washington, Pa., Saturday, the Bishops were handicapped by the condition of their captain, Chuck Buttermore. All-Ohio guard and ace play-maker. Buttermore was ill and able to play only 12 minutes against the Presidents, and in that time the Bishops pared a 14-point deficit down to four points before W & J's two-team system wore down the under-manned Bishops.

The Jackets have the same record as the Bishops, winning two—Otterbein 77-58 and Youngstown 64-49—and losing one—Kent State 50-60. Wesleyan holds a 66-49 win over Hillsdale and a 60-58 triumph over Otterbein.

Coach Bob Strimer intends to string along with his regular quintet of Johnny Meyers and Jack Smith at the forwards, Jud Millhon at center, and Chuck Buttermore and Jack Moore at the Guards: However, Russ Ramsey, sophomore guard who is third among the Red and Black pointgetters, may get the nod over Moore, and Bill Millhon, Jud's twin, will see service at forward.

All parties concerned refused to talk about the matter. Chandler has given no indication what penalties—if any—he may hand out However, most baseball people believed that Durocher, Fitzsimmons and the Giants would get off with fines

Chandler called the investigation after the Giants signed Fitzsimmons as a coach while he was still on the reserve list of the Boston Braves

LIQUOR DEPT. ACTS IN CIRCLEVILLE DISPUTE

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O, Dec 15—The state liquor department today ordered the city of Circleville to show cause within 30 days why the state should not withhold its share of liquor permit fees

It is believed to be the first time the state liquor department has taken direct steps looking toward withholding of fees from a local government unit.

The action was the latest development in a dispute between Circleville city officials and the state over enforcement policies

The dispute began when Circleville police refused to assist liquor enforcement agents in checking premises of liquor permit holders suspected of violating state liquor laws City officials charged that liquor agents had sought protection money from eight club permit holders

William Galayda, inspector-in-charge of the Columbus district, in an affidavit to the liquor control board, said Police Chief William McCready refused to accompany him and four liquor inspectors to investigate complaints that the Circleville Moose lodge was selling after hours

Galayda further stated that he had gone to the club and had been denied entrance by the doorman Galayda said he then went to the mayor, who accompanied the inspectors to the lodge a few hours later and found the lodge closed

Pageant To Be Given At Caledonia Church

Young people of the Caledonia Church of Christ will present a two-act drama pageant, "Where Is He?" at the church Sunday night. It was written and directed by Mrs. Melvin Keeran, wife of the pastor.

First scene, in "heaven," depicts a host of angels and St. Peter, concerned over the procession before the pearly gates on Christmas eve and the apparent absence of Christ in the lives of those wishing admittance to heaven." The spirit of the true Christmas is asked to go to earth to discover "what the people on earth have done with the Christ Child." In the second scene, the spirit's search has ended at the church where she presents to a negligent, forgetful people the story of Christ in tableaus, reading and music.

In speaking parts are Robert Hinkle, Margaret Martin, Hubert Rigdon, Carol Furniss, Raymond Ipsher, Teresa Hipsher, Robert Hill, Shirley Guinther, Genola Ipsher, Robert Howe and Patricia Bryant. Tableau characters are Connie Underwood, Jean Reese, Tom Phillips, and George Longacre, and special music will be by Mary Lou Cochran, David Henkle, Margaret Martin, Marlene Weston, Susan Reed, and Mary and Beulah Cochran, with junior, primary and nursery children assisting. Organ and piano accompaniment will be by Phyllis Longacre.

Annie Rooney — By Darrell McClure

HIS CLOTHES IS STILL IN HIS ROOM— HIS CAR IS STILL IN THE GARAGE— BUNK IS TOO FOXY TO STAY IN TOWN UNLESS ONE OF OUR BULLETS GOT HIM IN A GUN BATTLE—
WE WERE ALL BLAZIN AWAY IN THE DARK—
I DON'T SEE HOW WE COULD'VE MISSED HIM!
I THINK THE GUY MADE A CLEAN GETAWAY— DON'T FORGET HE STARTED THE SCRAP—SO HE MUSTA HAD ALL HIS PLANS MADE FOR TRAVELIN' FAST AN' FAR—
NO SIR—I AIN'T SEEN MY FATHER SINCE SUNDAY— AN' I DIDN'T GET NO LETTERS FROM HIM— I GUESS HE MUST BE TERRIBLE BUSY—

Refugee Veterinarians Find U.S. Doors Tight

By The United Press

CHICAGO — Several hundred European veterinarians who want to enter the United States probably would find it difficult to get licenses to practice, the American Veterinary Medical Association reports.

"Unfortunately, even though more veterinarians are needed in the United States," the association said, "there is no national agency for assuring professional recognition for the Europeans to practice in this country."

Many states require veterinarians to be graduates of accredited American colleges "or of schools which maintain a comparable course of study," the group said. It added that information now on file concerning European schools is no longer accurate.

MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGN PLANNED

City Schools Again To Take Part in Drive.

Plans for the annual March of Dimes campaign getunder way early in the new year are fast taking shape. Meetings are being held and details worked out for the fifteenth annual drive which opens Jan 14. One of the first groups to start things moving is the city schools where this year, as in previous years, each child will have an opportunity to help some boy or girl who has been afflicted with infantile paralysis and at present in the hospital or recovering from the disease.

Curtis M. Foutz, principal at the Silver street school has been appointed by Supt. Lester L. Dickey to serve as chairman for the school campaign. This year each child in the city schools will have an individual card, a miniature of the cards sent out to adults, in which to place his or her contribution. The cards, which have space for five dimes will be distributed by the home room teachers of each building it is planned. Last year the contributions were placed in boxes.

The children's contributions will be added to those of their elders and all be used to carry on the program of caring for polio victims in hospitals providing braces for nursing care and other expenses.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

Almost any public speaker would have been glad to trade audiences with me, I told myself as I came back from locking the door of Dicky's room, and again faced my son, Junior, and Dicky's orphaned nephew, Roderick. Their eyes were wide and starry with excitement, and they patently were ready to "hang upon my lightest word."

I did not keep them waiting, but plunged at once into the account of Harry Underwood's conference with Dicky. As I had promised, I recounted "every syllable", and I also told them the reason for the return of Harry and Lillian Underwood to their home.

"Carlotta Carroll," Junior said when I had finished, evidently appraising the musical syllables as he uttered them. "We've never heard that name before, have we, Rod?"

"Not I," his cousin said. "I sure would have remembered it if I had. That's what I call one honey of a name tag."

"Isn't it a lulu?" Junior commented. "Sounds like a movie star's name to me. Has she ever been on the stage, Mums?"

"No, but she talks on the radio, or did," I answered, realizing how little I really knew of the glamorous South American girl whom my father had brought into our circle for some unknown purpose of his own.

"Funny we've never heard her," Roderick said, "but I suppose she's probably on the hours that we're busy at lessons, or the study hall. We have only a little time each day for radio listening," he explained.

"Does Grandad really think there's something phony about her?" Junior asked.

"I don't know," I told him truthfully. "But, of one thing I'm very sure. He's checking on her from every possible angle. And he hasn't trusted her as yet with the secret of exiled King Georges' presence in this country, his marriage to Olina, or the existence of the secret underground chamber at the farmhouse."

"But those are top secrets!" Junior said explosively. "If she knows those, she'll be on the inside the way the Underwoods, and the F.B.I. men, Mr. 'K' and Mrs. 'X', and Charley Kent, and the Tiders are. Just the same as the family and Katie and Jim."

"I know," I told him. "And you may be very sure, if she ever does come to the farm, your grandfather will have satisfied himself very thoroughly of her worthiness."

"Do you suppose, Mums," he went on slowly, "that Granddad might bring her to the farm house for the purpose of making her think she was on the inside when she really wasn't?"

I stared at him with surprise and a touch of pride. Was this "grown-up" lad my little boy?

"That's a thought, Junior," I told him, refraining deliberately from any praise for his insight. "Your grandfather might do that very thing, although, I am doubtful about it."

Then Roderick put a question that also gave me "food for thought."

"Did you say this Carlotta Carroll was a pal of Mr. 'K's'?" he asked.

2 RECLUSES PERISH IN 3RD CHICAGO FIRE

By The United Press

CHICAGO Dec 15—A brother and sister who were known to neighbors as aged eccentric recluses burned to death early Tuesday when their ornate Victorian home filled with costly antiques, was destroyed by fire

Another sister was rescued by firemen as she ran hysterically through the two-story frame building near the University of Chicago campus in the city's south side

Firemen said that Miss Celesta Pratt, 66, apparently died trying to save her brother Richard, 70, an invalid who had been confined to his bed on the building's second floor

The sister who was rescued, Jeanette, 60, said she arose shortly after midnight and saw the flames in a stack of paper near her bedroom door

I screamed to Celesta to get Richard out of his room, she said "Then I ran downstairs to try to telephone for help"

Firemen, called by neighbors, found Jeanette running through the first floor with a heavy antique vase she had filled with water to try to fight the flames herself The vase got her out unhurt but it was too late to save the others trapped on the second floor

Jeanette told officials that her brother had a hot plate in his room but she was not certain whether it was burning when the fire started

It was Chicago's third serious fire in five days On Friday, 200 residents of the Capitol hotel fled to the street when the building was razed On Sunday, five persons were killed when flames raced through the Victoria hotel

The Pratt family was understood to be a formerly wealthy family which lost heavily in the 1929 crash.

CONSIDER CHANGES IN ELECTORAL VOTE

By The United Press

WASHINGTON Dec 15 — Changes now being discussed in methods of casting electoral votes for president in the United States appear today to be sure-fire builders of splinter parties

But the changes also would give every voter a greater individual influence in a presidential election Changes discussed would divide electoral votes by a percentage system rather than on the present basis of winner-take-all in each states The percentages could be projected from the nationwide popular vote or on a state-by-state basis

Electors cast their votes Monday in the several states The United Press tabulation of the popular vote now is complete final and official The electoral vote will be official when it is counted next month by the congress But the score already is known as follows

Truman 303, Dewey 179 Thurmond 39

Mr Truman lost one vote to Gov J Strom Thurmond because one Tennessee elector refused Monday to vote for the President although he carried the state It is customary but not compulsory in all states for the electoral vote to go to the candidate who gets the largest popular vote. The present system is loose and in many respects unsatisfactory

The popular vote among the four principal presidential candidates was

Truman 24,106,866 Dewey 21,970,136 Wallace 1,157,218, Thurmond 1,169,235

Mr Truman's lopsided electoral vote advantage and the fact that Wallace was blanked are examples of the inequity of the present method of distributing popular votes.

Dilemma for Law Enforcement

THE U.S. supreme court has deepened the dilemma which confronts police authority in the use of confessions obtained from prisoners. Regardless of whether or not force is used, the court has ruled, a confession is invalid if obtained while a prisoner is being deprived of his right to counsel. The court was divided 5 to 4 in its opinion, one of a series strengthening the rights of suspects in the hands of the police.

The law enforcement dilemma arises from the fact that any person given the right of counsel is almost certain to be advised by that counsel to sign no confession of any kind. Thus, the public prosecutor is barred from the use of confessions to obtain convictions, the ultimate danger is that police authority, frustrated by a safeguard which protects all comers—the guilty as well as the innocent—will grow lax in performing its duty of law enforcement.

The supreme court is aware of this danger. The majority of the court, however, stresses what it feels is a greater danger, that the practice of obtaining confessions before counsel is made available may be harmful to civil rights. This has become a classical issue, with the majority of the supreme court upholding civil rights against a minority apprehensive of the effect on law enforcement. The United States needs a clearly legal means of obtaining evidence from arrested persons that cannot be challenged as a violation of individual rights.

Texas Republicans

IN THE post-mortem on the 1948 election, the growth of political opposition in Texas has given Democrats something to think about. Governor Dewey polled 57 per cent more votes this time than in 1944, apparently because Texans opposed to the policies of Democrats in their state and more particularly in Washington are determined to have a voice.

Having provided that there is substantial support for their beliefs in the state of Texas, they intend to develop it systematically, instead of waiting for the next presidential election to revive interest in their possibilities. They point to historic evidence that the Democrats' strength in Texas never has been overwhelming. As long ago as 1900 William McKinley polled almost half as many votes as Bryan in the state. Warren G. Harding ran well in 1920. In 1928, Herbert Hoover carried the state. Texas Democrats are not chained to the party; they can and have broken away from it in significantly large numbers.

"The Democratic party has dominated the politics and the government of Texas too long," declared the Southern Weekly, published in Dallas. "During the next four years we are going to have ample demonstration of the purpose of the national Democratic party to change our form of government and the character of our economic system, and it is certain that an overwhelming majority of the people of Texas are strongly and unalterably opposed to the kind of changes the Democratic administration will attempt."

Music Will Fill the Air

THE department of justice has approved a provision for royalties to finance a union welfare fund, in a proposed contract between the American Federation of Musicians and phonograph record companies. Music will fill the air. But there will be some sour notes, perhaps stray echoes from horn-blowing that occurred in the past.

For one thing, the department of justice can give only advisory opinions. It might be wrong about the legality of using royalties for the benefit of union members. It might even be wrong if it has assumed that the Taft-Hartley act, which forbids the practice, is going to be repealed anyway.

For another thing, the union's 11½-month ban on recordings has had no perceptible effect on the recording business. What was begun as a show of strength may have ended as an acknowledgement of weakness.

For still another thing, the music-consuming public hasn't been aware of the ban. Music has continued to fill the air. Some of it has been good, some of it bad, some of it old, some of it new, the same as always. James C. Petrillo apparently cannot beat the public into submission with his baton, a fact that may prove to be more significant in the long run than his apparent victory over the phonograph record companies.

Some Vital Questions

By George E. Sokolsky

Public Is Entitled To Answers

AGAIN, again and again, it must be said that neither Whittaker Chambers nor Alger Hiss nor Donald Hiss nor any unpalatable state department official who passed documents to agents of foreign countries is really important. The questions at issue are:

1. Why was the state department so badly organized that the national security was imperiled?

2. Why were Communists employed in so "sensitive" a part of the government as the state department?

3. Why were they employed during the Hitler-Stalin alliance when both Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany were attacking the United States?

(In accordance with the terms of membership in the Communist party, the allegiance of all members is to Soviet Russia irrespective of nationality. In fact, during the war it was disclosed that many European Communist leaders actually had dual citizenship, namely that of their own country and of Soviet Russia.)

4. Why were no efforts made to investigate the seriousness of the problem when Whittaker Chambers and Isaac Don Levine reported what is now known to be true to Adolf A. Berle, Jr. then under-secretary of state (in 1939)?

5. WHY WAS hardly anything done by the state and justice departments to protect themselves after the Amerasia case, when it was found that state department documents were in the possession of a magazine known to be pro-Russian (1945)?

6. Why was the report of the Dies committee made to the department of justice in 1941 setting forth the details of the Harold Ware Communist cell—now known to be true—ridiculed by Attorney General Biddle?

7. Why does the President of the United States shield the traitors by refusing to permit the FBI or any other agency of government to co-operate with congress in the investigation of espionage and treachery?

8. Why does the President seek to divert public attention from great crimes against the American nation by repeating his 'red herring" silliness?

9. Why does the department of justice make it tough for the spy that turned state's evidence, but deals with softness toward those who must be responsible for documents that were entrusted to them?

10. Why has the government of the United States ignored the Canadian blue book?

• • •

11. WHY DID our government give aid and comfort to Chinese Communists ridiculing General Pat Hurley, our ambassador to China, trying through "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell and George Marshall to force Chiang Kai-shek to accept the Communists as associates?

12. Is it or is it not true that one country encouraged Neville Chamberlain to make his Munich deal with Hitler? What was the consideration? Is it true that at least one of the Chambers documents deals with this?

13. Is it true that Prince Konoye tried to prevent war between the United States and Japan on terms that should have been acceptable to the United States, and that we rejected his offer?

14. Is it true that at the Cairo conference we guaranteed the return of all Chinese territory to China that Japan had seized, and at the Yalta conference, 15 months later, we agreed to Russia seizing the same territory — and for no consideration?

15. Why was JCS 1067 issued and carried through in spite of the fact that we already knew that we had lost World War II to Soviet Russia and that we needed as we now acknowledge — Germany as a barrier against a Russian conquest of Europe?

• • •

16. FOR WHAT REASON did we give the Kurile islands, half of Korea and the railroads of Manchuria to Soviet Russia?

Now, nobody can blame Harry Truman for most of the startling and tragic errors made by the state department. During most of the period under consideration, he was a senator or vice president. During part of it, he was President, but hardly informed, and overshadowed by the state department. The question must, however, be asked: "Why does he evade the issue now?

Why does he call proved established facts a "red herring"? Is it out of loyalty to some person or to a group? Such loyalty is commendable at times, but obviously his highest loyalty is to the United States of America. Sometimes it is difficult to differentiate between loyalty to an officialdom and loyalty to a country. Here too much depends upon tolerance for error.

New Orleans' Mart

By Raymond Moley

WHEN Jefferson purchased Louisiana in 1803, he said that "New Orleans will be forever as it is now, the mightiest mart of the merchandise brought from more than a thousand rivers. With Boston, Baltimore, New York and Philadelphia on the left, Mexico on the right, Havana in front and the immense valley of the Mississippi in the rear, no such position for the accumulation of wealth and power ever existed."

This month a very practical means of realizing this prophesy was inaugurated. The International Trade Mart was dedicated. Its purpose is to exhibit the merchandise of firms throughout the world to prospective customers from the countries south of New Orleans.

• • •

THE FIRST STEP toward the Trade Mart was the creation of the International House three years ago. This institution is at once a downtown business man's club, a spot for entertainment of visitors from all the Americas, a convenient base for the operations of buyers and sellers, a center of publicity about trade opportunities and a base for commercial research.

The International House and the Trade Mart provide a remarkable chance for business, especially small businesses, to operate successfully without elaborate and expensive selling organizations of their own. Government sponsorship of foreign trade through treaties, financial agreements, international monetary funds and windy exhortations from the state department are all well and good. But business concerns with something to sell or the wish to buy abroad must have the machinery to operate. Myths of buried treasures or homilies about trade across the seas do not make trade. Trade begins when buyers see good goods and sellers smell real money.

• • •

THE MART is a building with space to rent for exhibits and sales rooms for manufactured products of all kinds. The foreign buyer can find an assortment of products without expensive and lengthy tours of the United States. The domestic buyer can find what he wants from abroad.

The flags of all nations fly from the Mart, and its space is already filled with products, from agricultural equipment to wrought-iron furniture, pharmaceuticals, baby bottles, welding apparatus, kitchenware and cosmetics. Foreign governments have opened offices in the building to promote trade and spread good will.

In war years New Orleans was jammed with shipping, crowded with workers and bursting with prosperity. But business and civic leaders dreaded a reaction and planned for peace. For a short time the state had won a breathing spell from the oppressive Long political exploitation of many years. No American city worked harder to carry on in peacetime. The International House and Trade Mart are two of the concrete results of this effort.

• • •

THE MAJOR CONCERN of New Orleans is with Latin America and, to a degree, West Africa. After the first World War, Latin American trade boomed. Then it died down and reached bottom in 1932. It has now come back to its former peak. With energy, vision and the increasing industrialization of Latin America, trade can increase indefinitely.

Louisiana business, however, always labors under the handicap of political threats. A year ago the comeback of the Long crowd in the state election was a depressant. But this year the Long outfit failed to put over a choice assortment of legislation, and New Orleans is hopeful that the worst is past. A reform regime in New Orleans helps immeasurably.

The natural advantages of this port, so clearly seen by Jefferson, seem to be coming to a practical realization.

You May Be the Lucky One!

From Tide Magazine

NOT being especially given to practical jokes, we probably have not adequately covered the trick novelty industry—the cigarets that explode in your face, pencils that collapse when you try to write with them and other paraphernalia for the peculiar. Far from being dead, as we supposed (and hoped), this business appears quite alive. In fact, the bellwether manufacturer, Johnson Smith & Co. (Detroit) has brought out a "mammoth catalog," hoping you will buy from it for your Christmas stocking.

This compendium of devastating devices lists "over 6,000 novelties, many as new as the atomic bomb." Many of them are earthy, if not rather salacious. You will have to figure those out; we just cannot assume the responsibility for telling you about them. Still, there are plenty of other quaint things, which, we presume, the uninhibited will be giving each other this season.

For a reasonable charge, you can get "imitation bed bugs (a perfect imitation of the lusty little creatures that infest our beds and hold high carnival during the nights)" imitation ink blots; toothless combs; fake blood, match boxes that make you sneeze, "dirty" soap that stains your skin with dye; "red hot" toothpicks that "will burn the living daylights" out of your mouth; a windproof pipe in the form of a toilet bowl, complete with hinged lid; something called Stinker Plugs (you put one in a cigaret and give it to a friend—guaranteed to cure moochers of their borrowing habits)" and a particularly fetching item called Dog Floor Mess. The idea here is simple: "Poor Fido gets the blame until they start to clean it up—and then discover what an amazing real imitation it is."

Brunettes Lead

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Are there more brunettes than blondes?

Andre Basil, hair stylist at Chicago's Ambassador Hotel, says there are. During his 25 years of designing women's coiffures, he figures he has cut 21,910,000,000 hairs. Of the 78,250 hair cuts he has given women over the world, he said the proportion of brunettes, blondes and redheads was 60 per cent, 35 per cent and 5 per cent respectively.

In other words of the total hairs cut, 14,085,000,000 of them were brunette, 6,847,000,000 were blonde and 978,000,000 were auburn.

Use Women's Gossip

By The Associated Press

LONDON — Talkative women can be very useful in helping Britons understand how to achieve economic recovery, says Sir Stafford Cripps, the nation's economics minister. Addressing a recent meeting a labor party and trade union women, Sir Stafford smilingly noted:

"It may be that men are wrong in accusing women of being gossips, but from the point of view of putting across the true story of our problems, our efforts and our successes, who can do it better than the woman in those casual and intimate talks that she has with friends?"

The Tax Problem

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON

WHILE there has been a lot of talk about an increase in taxes, it begins to look now as if there will be no tax legislation until April or May of next year.

This is because congressional committees will want to know something about the tax collections for the year 1948 and an over-all picture will not be possible until after the March 15 receipts from corporations are available for analysis.

Senator George of Georgia, Democrat, who is to be chairman of the all-important senate finance committee, hinted while he was in Washington the other day that he did not think information on what must be done about changes in the tax laws would be at hand till March or April. Something of the same point of view has been expressed by Representative Doughton, Democrat, who is to be chairman of the ways and means committee, which originates tax legislation in the house of representatives.

If, therefore, congress does not act until the spring of 1949, the chances are that no retroactive rates so far as individuals are concerned will be applied for incomes earned prior to July 1, 1949. Congress has not passed a retroactive tax bill affecting individual rates since the Ruml pay-as-you-go plan was adopted a few years ago.

• • •

AS FOR CORPORATION taxes, these are not now on a current basis anyway. New taxes imposed during 1949 would not be payable until March 15, 1950. Most corporations, of course, will set aside out of current earnings in 1949 the necessary reserves to meet tax payments in 1950. As a practical matter, however, in most smaller businesses, corporation taxes are paid out of sums earned during the year in which the taxes are due rather than the preceding year.

When congress discusses tax changes, moreover, it will be considering the needs of the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1949 and runs to June 30, 1950. This means that, for all practical purposes, congress has the first six months of 1949 to consider and pass legislation with which to raise the revenues needed for the fiscal year that begins July 1, 1949.

Already there is a tendency toward caution with respect to new tax rates. For one thing there are signs that companies will not earn during 1949 the money they did in 1948, and it hardly would be sound for the government to assume a continuance of 1948 receipts in its calculations for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949.

• • •

THUS FAR the estimates of corporation earnings for 1948 include the paper profits due to the appraisal of goods on hand at prevailing prices, which are higher, of course, than those at which the stocks were originally bought. This factor is complicating the true picture of profits and tax rates.

Likewise if an excess-profits tax is imposed, it will immediately force layoffs in certain capital goods industries which have been benefitting from the spending of the profits of industries and businesses that have been using their funds for expansion in order to increase production.

High-level employment, which interests the government from the standpoint of tax receipts as much as it does labor, cannot be continued if any substantial curtailment of heavy goods industries is forced upon the national economy. It was the breakdown in the capital goods industries which started the wave of depression years in the '30's.

The sole test of any new tax rate is whether or not it will produce the desired revenue. If employment falls off, there will be a loss to the treasury through the individual tax rates. If business activity is curtailed due to the stoppage of capital goods activity, the corporation tax receipts will fall off, too.

• • •

THE PROBLEM is how to balance the budget without using the tax rates to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. It is probable that a slight increase in corporation taxes straight across the board will bring in more revenue than an excess-profits tax and will do less damage to business and employment. It would appear that congressional opinion, insofar as it is volunteered privately, leans at the moment more in that direction than toward any of the extreme proposals for taxing of earnings.

One thing seems sure — there isn't going to be any stampede to write a tax law. All interests concerned will be heard in due time and all economic factors will be weighed by a congress that will go before the people about 18 months after the next tax bill becomes law.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

"There isn't anything very interesting here—the kids and the baby-sitter must have cleaned us out again."

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

What's Wrong With This Picture?

MR CHARLES SAWYER SECRETARY OF COMMERCE.
Washington, D. C.

DEAR CHARLES

Washington economists and speakers at conventions have been sounding off on the importance of unity, cooperation and understanding on all levels of industry if we are to have continued prosperity and if the capitalistic system is to be preserved. You were among recent "sounders-off" on the idea, and you are right as rain. But I can't help wondering why nobody seems to put a little more emphasis on the importance of cooperation and understanding from below as well as from above. Isn't one of the big troubles today the fact that too many of us make a strict policy to distrust the boss?

• • •

Hasn't there come into American life a complete lack of the old-time loyalty to the employer, pride in the product and deep concern for the success of the business. Isn't the biggest headache of the average employer today the average worker's indifference, half-hearted efforts and determination not to strain himself or herself?

• • •

Nobody disappreciates the great benefits that have come to the rank and file in the last few years. The shorter hours and the higher pay are strictly O. K. But an employer going around with eyes and ears focused on the time clock and the "I should worry about your end of it" attitude of the hired help toward the guy who runs the business?

• • •

One of the big obstacles to unity in the business world today is the feeling on the part of so many men and women that the fellow who gets into business for himself automatically changes from a fellow human being into a larcenous polecat to be watched and guarded against every minute lest he put something over. How goofy this is! Every hour in this country some man or some woman who was on a pay roll opens a little store or business of his or her own. Yesterday they were working for a living, but they will tell you that former associates they hire to work for them immediately begin behaving as if convinced that the transition from worker to employer had transformed them into slave drivers, exploiters and all around no-goodies.

• • •

And big business isn't having the major headaches. It's the million of little businessmen and businesswomen, trying to carve out success in a small store, who are suffering the most from the "you big capitalistic exploiter mood."

• • •

If you think the operators of big business are wincing, take a look at the expression of pain on the faces of the little two-by-four business people. They are in there dying, mister, and no fooling. They will tell you it takes a fight to get some of the help to dust a show window or help fix a shelf unless it is all in the contract.

• • •

"Many people think businessmen are tough, selfish and hard-boiled," you said in a recent speech. "I have found them no tougher or more selfish than any other group," you added. That's a help. Any nice word for a fellow who happens to have gone into business for himself in the old American tradition will be greatly appreciated.

Yours,
ELMER.

This is the time of year when 75 per cent of all family rows start over the simple question, "Where did you put last year's list of people who sent us Christmas cards."

Benito Mussolini's wife, dispatches say, now tends chickens on a shabby farm in southern Italy. She had plenty of experience with "big clucks."

We know a theatergoer who, asked how he liked the new Anderson drama "Anne of The Thousand Days" said, "I don't know how it came out; I left after the nine hundredth night," but he is a cynic not moved by great writing. J-Day for Junk

By Truman Twill

This is the time of the dying year when desk drawers, magazine racks, book cases and filing cabinets begin to bulge. There finally is a crisis.

The crisis takes one of two forms.

1. All the junk is thrown away.
2. None of the junk is thrown away.

The word "junk" in this connection needs to be explained.

With few exceptions, the contents of desk drawers, magazine racks, filing cabinets and so on once were valuable. That's why they were saved. But with almost no exceptions, the contents turn into junk after they have been saved a certain length of time.

This does not mean they have lost all value. It means only that they have lost value to those who possess them or are in charge of them. Someone else may find them valuable, just as junk pickers find value in junk piles. The transfer of such material from one person to another often restores its value. That's how many valuable books have been discovered—in boxes of old books discarded by someone who could see no value in them any more.

As between a decision to throw away everything and start fresh and the decision to save everything, the latter is the more dangerous. Those who lack courage to throw things away ultimately are buried under huge collections of rubbish and are written up in the newspapers and magazines, with pictures showing the police burrowing into the mess to find the bodies of the goofs responsible for it.

The person who keeps things tidied up as he goes along never gets any publicity, but he is happier in the long run and so are his heirs and assignees, who are saved the trouble of building a large bonfire to get rid of his accumulation of junk, or holding an auction to pass it along to others who will foist it off on their heirs and assignees in due time.

It's not easy to make the decision to do this. Mental agony is the usual result—fears and apprehensions about having given the toss to stuff that someone might want, misgivings about making a clean sweep, regrets about being unable to take advantage of magazines, pamphlets and clippings that never were read. A smarter man would photograph every detail on his sensitive mind and become the world's greatest authority on miscellaneous information. But also

In other words, this corner of the department has been having its year-end housecleaning, with the usual regrets and doubts. May the janitor have happy pickings!

BELIEVE COLD WOULD END SLUMP IN COAL

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Dec 15—There's nothing wrong with the coal industry that a little cold weather won't fix — at least that's the opinion of operators

A nationwide survey Tuesday revealed there's some unemployment and reduced work weeks in the industry But the situation is not critical, the operators assert, though there's no question about plenty of coal being available for the asking The soft-coal industry now has some 70,000,000 tons above ground ready for the market

Operators declare the big stockpile and some of the unemployment, is due to unseasonably warm weather a seasonal lull and year-end inventories by big users

Truck and strip mining operations are principally affected by the slight recession Soft coal from truck and strip mines goes largely into the domestic market which operators claim has been affected by mild weather And much of the anthracite production also goes to domestic users—much of it to New York City

Some unemployment and reduced work weeks have been reported from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Colorado and Maryland in the soft coal areas.
